Winter 2007

Cabin flavor.

What happens when sleek interior design mixes with rustic log home architecture? The result is comfortable living served with a dash of contemporary flavor.

Nowhere is this perfect blend more apparent than in the kitchen of this Chanhassen home. Redesigned and remodeled by adding bold colors and creating a more efficient floor plan, the new space is both fun and functional. Pisa's design reflects the homeowners' modern tastes. While the improved layout means there can never be too many cooks in the kitchen.
